EX-70-ASI Installation

You should have received the EX-70-ASI with all the following:
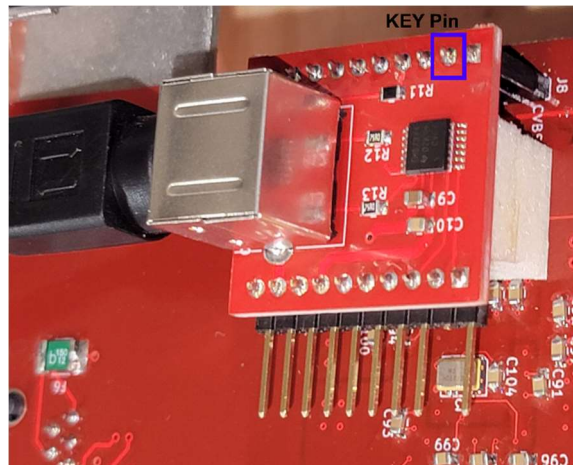

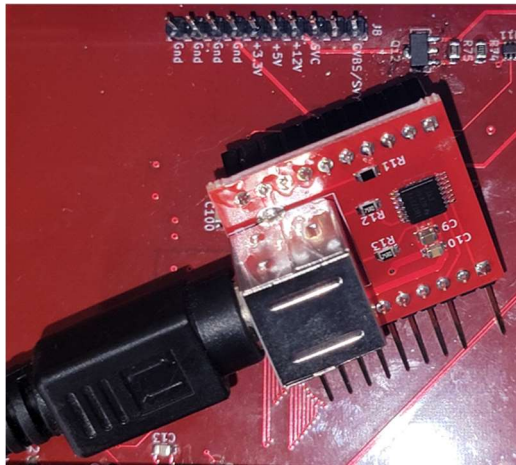

First, connect one end of the supplied video cable to the small extender board as follows:

Now connect the other end of the supplied video cable to the EX-70-ASI main unit and connect the power like this:

The first image shows the extender board near the video connector, the 2nd is with the extender board attached to the DL-20-ASI video connector.

If you're connecting an older DL-20 display, then you will need to connect it to the output connector of the extender board like this: